Building Peace

Men must not be content simply to support the efforts of others in the work for peace; they must also scrutinize their own attitudes. Statesmen, responsible as they are for the common good of their own nation and at the same time for the well-being of the whole world, are very much dependent on the opinions and convictions of the general public. Their efforts to secure peace are of no avail as long as men are divided or set against each other by feelings of hostility, contempt and distrust, by racial hatred or by inflexible ideologies. There is then a very great and urgent need to reeducate men and to provide fresh inspiration in the field of public opinion.

Those engaged in education, especially among young people, and those who influence public opinion, should consider it a very serious responsibility to work for the reeducation of mankind to a new attitude toward peace. We must all undergo a change of heart. We must look out on the whole world and see the tasks that we can all do together to promote the well-being of the family of man. We must not be misled by a false sense of hope. Unless antagonism and hatred are abandoned, unless binding and honest agreements are concluded, safeguarding universal peace in the future, mankind, already in grave peril, may well face in spite of its marvelous advance in knowledge that day of disaster when it knows no other peace than the awful peace of death.

In saying this, however, the Church of Christ, living as it does in the midst of these anxious time, continues unwaveringly in hope. Time and again, in season and out of season, it seeks to proclaim to our age the message of the Apostle: Now is the hour of God's favor, the hour for a change of heart; now is the day of salvation.

To build peace, the causes of human discord which feed the fires of war must first be eliminated, and among these especially the violations of justice. Many of these causes are due to gross economic inequality and delay in providing necessary remedies. Others arise from a spirit of domination and from a contempt for others, and among more fundamental causes, from human envy, distrust, pride and other forms of selfishness. (Second Vatican Council)

We must do all we can to scrutinize our own hearts. Do we support attitudes of "hostility, contempt and distrust...racial hatred...inflexible ideologies"? Have we done what we could to provide food, water, clothing and shelter for those in need? Do we support those inspire peace? kvs

The gift shop is open after each Sunday Mass and every Wednesday from 10 – 12 noon. We have festival tickets, Rosaries, and all things Solanus available for sale. We can take orders for any items you may need!

Coffee is served in the Parish Hall after each Sunday Mass; everyone is invited to join us for conversation!

Kathy Stevens will be offering "The Solanus Way" every Thursday starting July 11th through August 1st at 10AM in the Knights of Columbus room. Come learn more about Father Solanus and his way of living for God. Call 563-581-3382 to register for materials. There is no cost for the class.
